Viscount Gray Suggests Peace Conference Be Permanent Body

SUGGESTS TRUSTEESHIP FOR AFRICAN COLONIES

Shows Why America Must Have Part In Any League of Nations

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
- London, Dec 23—Viscount Grey, former secretary of state for foreign affairs, has written at the request of the research committee of the League of Nations union, an introductory note to a pamphlet, entitled "The Peace Conference and After."

After urging the great opportunity offered by the peace conference for making a practical step in the direction of forming a league of nations, Viscount Grey says:

"It is not necessary for the peace

"This is not all that is desirable, but it is all that is essential. A beginning that has in it vitality and power of growth is better than a more complete but more attractive but static structure. One is a living thing while the other is a piece of furniture."

"Two more points I would especially commend to careful attention—one is the possibility of applying the principle of the village group to the development of a special Africa, where no independent national government of the native inhabitants can be formed. The other is emphasized on the earnest advocacy

"It has required the unified efforts of the allies and the United States to win the war of right against wrong and against the peace of peace against war. The war is continuous, although peaceful action of all of them to maintain peace."

"It would be as fatal to the future of the world for the United States to withdraw from the League of Nations as it would be for any power to revive the German policy of separatism, conquest and domination. It is, I believe, in this spirit and for this purpose that the people of this country desire the League of Nations to be united with the United States. We think the people of the United States are conscious of the great and beneficent influence they exercised on the history of the world by the party they took in this war. We cannot believe that they will let his influence abate or die."

CAR HITS BRIDGE RUGG IS INJURED

Son of Manufacturer Is Thrown Through Windshield in Accident Near Pataskala on Saturday Night.

T. M. Rugg and son, Howard S. Rugg, met with a serious accident Saturday evening about 6 o'clock while returning from Columbus, which might have resulted fatally for them both if their machine had not caught on a bridge guard and saved them from being thrown over a deep embankment. Both, however, were injured—Howard quite badly, while the father suffered an injury to one of his knees. The two men had been in Columbus on business and were returning in the Rugg car when they met the big Dewey freight truck approaching them a short distance west of Columbia Center. The elder Rugg was driving and his son was in the back seat. There was only one light on the truck and it blinded the driver of the sedan. The latter turned out for the truck and did not see it from bridge just ahead, which he struck full force, throwing Howard from the back seat through the windshield. He was rendered unconscious for a short time and a big gash was cut in his forehead. He was also badly cut on one arm and his back was injured. He was carried into a nearby house and a physician from Pataskala summoned who rendered first aid. He was later taken to his city and Dr. Carl Evans attended him. Young Rugg will soon be able to resume his position as manager of the Rugg factory. Had the car not caught on the bridge guard it would have gone over a steep embankment.

YOUNG DORSEY TO START FOR HOME IN JANUARY

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Dorsey of Granville today received "Xmas" Christmas" cablegram from their son Lieutenant George A. Dorsey, United States Navy, bringing a message that will make the Christmas season in the Dorsey home a very happy one. The message came from Madrid, Spain and said among other things that Lieut. Dorsey's son, Lieut. George Dorsey Jr., is now well and will sail for America in January. Lieutenant Dorsey, aviator, was shot through the arm October 1st while in action in France. He was sent to a British hospital but no word has been received from him since the middle of October until today's cablegram arrived announcing that he has recovered from his wound and will soon sail for home.

WAS NOTHING BUT COLD TEA

Interesting Query Now Is, What Did the "Rakes" of Flushing Think They Were Drinking?

An impressive entry in the influence-of-and-over-matter contest is submitted by the Flushing correspondent. A prominent turner of an honest penny of Flushing, it seems, with many a sly knowing and suggestive wink passed the word about that he was now in a position to supply prominent residents of that legally dry district with what he with an air of infinite facetiousness denominated cold tea, to be drunk on the premises.

Prominent rakes of Flushing thronged to the premises at once, a thriving business soon was built up and many a lip was smacked and many a genial jest was exchanged over the so-called cold tea, the consensus of the opinion being that our turner of an honest penny must have procured for his patrons the private stock of some old Kentucky cellar. Finally one day there came along a phlegmatic, unimaginative fellow who ordered a beaker of cold tea in the accepted important but secretive manner, started to quaff and laid down the tippie with something, we are sorry to say, very like an oath. "Why, that's nothing but cold tea," he exclaimed with kindling anger.

Our turner of an honest penny frankly acknowledged that such in very sooth was the fact and had been the fact in very sooth since the inception of his little venture, smilingly reminding all present that he never had offered them anything but cold tea or sold them the beverage under any other name.

Our prominent rakes of Flushing, satisfied that they had been put upon and yet had no recourse, dispersed in no little confusion, thoroughly humiliated, chagrined and ashamed, for such is human nature, because they had been trapped into betraying their unfamiliarity with what it would have served them ill to know—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Ferocious Rhino.

The rhinoceros would be just as formidable as the buffalo were his sight as good. But he has to go a bit slowly because of dependence on the sense of smell. Once within a few yards of his object, where his weak eyes can distinguish it—then look out! His charge is something terrible, and the only safe place is a tree. When African natives are asked what animal they most fear, nearly all of them do not hesitate to say the rhino.

A Little Reluctant. "Aren't you in favor of the uplift?" inquired the sniggering snigger. "Yes," answered the sniggerer, "but don't you think we've boosted the price tags about as high as the public will stand for?"—Washington Star.

LOSE NEARLY 10 MILLIONS IN WAR

Russian Casualty List Larger Than Any Other Beligerent Is Petrograd Report.

Copenhagen, Dec. 23.—Russia's war casualties total 9,150,000 men, according to a telegram received here yesterday from Petrograd. Of this number 1,700,000 were killed.

The disabled men number 1,450,000, while 3,500,000 other soldiers were wounded. The Russians taken prisoner total 2,500,000.

Estimates of the Russian casualties in the war made last week by the Russian information bureau director, A. J. Sack, in New York, figured the total at "not less than 8,000,000 men, or whom 3,000,000 were killed and about 1,000,000 disabled for life."

Figures compiled by the Cologne Gazette and published November 25, placed the total German casualties at more than 6,000,000. Of this number it was estimated that about 2,000,000 were killed.

The French soldiers killed in the war, according to a statement made in the French chamber of deputies on December 20 by Lucien Voisin, a Socialist deputy, total 500,000 men in killed or died of wounds. A statement to this effect was made in Paris, December 21, by Salvatore Barzilai, a former member of the Italian cabinet, who accompanied King Victor Emmanuel on his visit to the French capital.

The British army official losses in killed total 638,701.

No Mephistophelean Monopoly.

The devil has no monopoly on the pitchfork. Rev. William Barnes Lower, pastor of the Holy Trinity Presbyterian church of Logan, Philadelphia, recently spent his vacation working on a farm near Schwenksville, Pa., and sent a message to his congregation, urging the able-bodied male members to help farmers harvest their crops.

"If we can thrash grain in the field," was his message, according to the Philadelphia Bulletin, "we can thrash the devil in the front-line trenches he is building round our churches."—United States Employment Service Bulletin.

Speaking of Rumors.

According to an Amsterdam dispatch it is persistently being rumored that the Kaiser is losing his mind.

Amsterdam might further startle the world by announcing a persistent rumor that there is a war on in Europe.

Or another rumor that Christmas day will come on December 25 this year.

Or a persistent rumor that water is wet.

Gave Value to Rubber.

Vulcanized rubber—and all rubber articles are now vulcanized—was first made at Woburn, Mass., by Charles Goodyear about 1844. He obtained his first patent in that year, after he had spent years in experimenting and had reduced his family to extreme poverty. Before 1844 rubber had been used for various purposes as a soft, sticky gum, but was of comparatively little value.

Perfect Engineering Feat.

At Omaha, Neb., a brick chimney 202 feet high and weighing 237 tons was made to fall exactly where the engineer who performed the feat wanted it to fall, between two buildings, without marring either one of them. The bricks on one side of the base of the chimney were removed and replaced with hardwood timbers, which were burned.

To Be Friends Again.

One of the best ways of healing a quarrel is to ask a favor. If we attempt to do a kindness to a friend who is alienated, she will probably suspect our motive and reject it. But if we ask a service of her, the barrier of misunderstanding will melt like snowflakes in the sun, and the way will be opened for us to be friends again.

TO USE AIRPLANE FOR TRIP TO POLE

Captain Bartlett, Famous Explorer Will Lead Party to Arctic Next Summer.

New York, Dec. 23.—An expedition to be led by Captain Robert A. Bartlett, noted explorer, will be sent to the polar pole by airplane, according to an announcement here by the Aero Club of America. The plan, it was said, was conceived by Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary, discoverer of the pole. The purpose of the expedition, which it was said, would be the most completely equipped ever sent out, will be to "explore, survey and photograph the unexplored parts of the Arctic regions and establish the existence, or nonexistence of land or lands in that region." It also is intended, according to the announcement, "to explore the upper air and the bottom of the polar basin." Results of inestimable value to the air and the bottom of the polar basin United States and to science will surely be obtained from this expedition, said the announcement, which added that the club would raise $250,000 to finance the trip. "The north pole has been discovered, but the major part of the work still remains to be done," the announcement states. "Both Admiral Peary and Captain Bartlett want to do a great deal of scientific research on the polar basin, which over 1,000,000 square miles remain unexplored, and they would want to have a laboratory on the ship where the flora and fauna from the ocean bottom will be kept until the return of the expedition. Little or no data have been obtained from the bottom of the polar basin and no meteorological surveys have been made in the polar region." Asserting that "with the co-operation of the leading geographical and scientific bodies assured," it is planned to have the expedition leave the United States next June, the announcement adds. "There are six weeks of fair weather in July and August, when, even in the polar regions, it is seldom lower than 10 degrees above zero. The plans are to have a ship go to Etah, about 600 miles from the north pole, in June, when the ice is sufficiently broken to permit the ship to cross Melville Bay.

FIVE FATHERLESS FRENCH TOTS ARE ADOPTED BY NEWARK PEOPLE

Ten fatherless children of France, tragic victims of the great war, can be cared for by Newark people, under the plan adopted by a French committee with branches in the United States. Tentative plans already have been made by Newark organizations for the "adoption" of these children, pending $36.50 yearly for their support.

The following statement of the conditions and the opportunities offered has been issued by Mrs. Edward Thomas, Newark chairman of the committee for the fatherless children of France:

"The young manhood of France lies buried on her battlefields, and hundreds of thousands of children have been left fatherless and destitute. No greater work can be done for France than to give these children the chance of which their father's death has deprived them. France cannot survive unless her children survive."

An organization has been formed in this country working with the French committee of which Marshal Joffre is president. The work is carried on through local committees of which there are two in the United States. The Newark committee will be a branch of the Columbus organization, and the money collected here will go through that committee. To every subscriber who pledges to care for an orphan for one year, is given the name and address of the particular child to whom his money will go. Payments may be made quarterly by arrangement with the local committee. As the children are adopted, their names with those of their adoptors, are returned to our French committee. Money subscribed in America is sent to the mother or guardian of the child in quarterly payments on postal money orders bearing the name and address of the American donor.

"It is the policy of the organization to keep the children in their own homes, so that they may grow up in the religion of the family."

"You may ask how one may be sure that the money will reach the children. The safeguards are: First, the character of the American and French committees; second, the fact that every dollar of the money is accounted for in orders that remain on file, and are open for inspection, and third, and above all, that the children and the donor are put into personal correspondence so that if the child should fail to receive its remittance the donor would be notified by the child or its family. It is the unbroken rule of the society that not one cent of the money subscribed for the support of orphans shall be used for expenses of any sort. All expenses of the society are met either from voluntary donations or membership dues; 10 cents keeps a child one year, in its mother's home; $2 keeps a child one month in its mother's home; $36.50 keeps a child one year, in its mother's home."

"It is earnestly hoped that this committee, in connection with the Girls' Patriotic League may be the means of securing the adoption of many of these little helpless children."

"It seems especially fitting that an appeal should be made at this Christmas season—no more appropriate thank offering could be made than the care for one year of one of these little orphan children, of poor, devastated France—to whom peace and happiness is only a memory or a legend."

The Newark committee has the names of ten children needing help. The chairman of the local committee will be glad to give any information on the subject.

The Stylton, Beggs Company has undertaken the duty of making money orders for one year. May other Newark business houses follow their good example."

Granville King's Daughters
Ask General Observance of Old Time Custom
Throughout Village.

(Special to the Advocate.)
Granville, Dec. 23.—The local chapter of The King's Daughters, the community's distributors of Christmas cheer, request that every house in the village observe Christmas eve, for this year, if never again, by displaying a light in a window—in every window, if they will, in commemoration of the coming of the Prince of Peace. It is a custom in most homes to illuminate the windows on the night before Christmas. This year, it is felt, the whole town should be glorified and beautified by the Christmas spirit made visible.

The plan is "littered" from public assemblies, but the Women's clubs are enjoying their holiday vacation. The King's Daughters will meet in their rooms this evening to prepare their baskets for Tuesday's distribution of Christmas cheer.

Granville acclaims another young author in the person of Mrs. Dorothy Jones Dalatianos, now of Columbus, whose novel, "When He Found Himself," is just from the press. Mrs. Dalatianos was a weekend guest of Granville friends.

Miss Anna Beckham of the Denison faculty, whose home is in Rhode Island, will remain in Granville for the holidays.

Miss McNeill of the department of English, Sheperdson College, left Saturday for her home in Toronto, Canada.

Phi Delta Theta fraternity entertained their Sheperdson College friends Friday evening at a charmingly appointed dinner dance at the Hotel Desher, Columbus.

Prof. W. J. Livingston will leave Wednesday evening for New York City, arriving on Thursday.

The annual meeting of the National Athletic Research society, and on Friday the meeting of the International Athletic Association to be held at the Hotel Astor.

Prof. and Mrs. W. J. Livingston will entertain with a jolly house party during Christmas week at their home in Plum street; Mr. and Mrs. G. A. McClure and son Robert of Findley, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Martin of Warren, and Miss Betty Bonham, Mr. George Alvin Bonham, Piqua, and Mr. D. W. Peck, Pittsburgh.

Among the guests who attended the Epiphany church service yesterday for their duties in camp, were Sergeants Kenneth Ullman, Henry Stout, Carl and Holcomb Frash.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Jones returned Saturday from a visit to Chicago. Jack Hundley, who has been discharged from the naval unit of the Cornell S. A. T. C. returned home Friday evening.

Mark Smith, Denison '18, Beta Theta Pi, who was in a French hospital with serious shell wounds, is now at his home in Chicago.

Harold Cady Reynolds, Denison '15, who spent six months in Russia over a year ago, was at Granville week-end visitor. Mr. Reynolds is still employed by the New York City bank in whose interests he was sent to Russia.

At the Baptist church Sunday morning the program was enriched by several numbers of special Christmas music, a reading, "The Angels and the Shepherds," and an address by Dr. Clifford Breisford, "The Wonderful Gift." The special offering was dedicated to the Armenian and Syrian relief.

Miss Helen Baldwin, who now occupies the chair of Latin in the State Normal College at Cortland, N. Y., has arrived at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Baldwin, where she will spend the holidays.

Among those who will spend Christmas with the Granville friends are Miss Louise Williams of Smith College, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Williams, Miss Mary Frances Deming, pupil in a young ladies school in Washington, Pa., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Deming, and Miss Letty Green of Pittsburgh.

PURITY COUPLE
MARRIED 50 YEARS

On Dec. 16, an event of interest took place in Purity, Eden township, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Hughs, where thirty five guests assembled to celebrate the 50th wedding anniversary of John Hughs and Mary Elizabeth Farriman.

The home was appropriately decorated in white and yellow, a large cake, laid, mounted with 50 Golden Candles held the center of the dining room table.

At the noon hour a splendid 4 course dinner was served.

An interesting feature of the hour was the lighting of the candles by Mr. and Mrs. Rolla Clark and the attempt by Mr. and Mrs. Hughs to extinguish them at one breath each. This they failed to do, but succeeded only after several attempts.

The afternoon program included a history of the Hughs family by C. C. Hughs; during the reading, "Auld Lang Syne" was sung by J. L. MacDonald. Addresses were given by J. L. MacDonald, Ben Gilville, Rolla Clark and C. C. Hughs.

A guest-group photograph was then taken by Mr. Neen at Utica.

Mr. and Mrs. Hughs were married by David G. Mitchell at his home South of Martinsburg, Dec. 16, 1868.

To this union were born two children, John and Mary. John was married to Harvey W. Colville of Eden township. Four children were born to this home: Hazel, Verne, Paul and Frank. Hazel married Leslie Meyers, and is the mother of one daughter, Imogene, and a son who died in infancy. Verne was married to Bert Evans and is the mother of two sons, Wayne and Cyrene. Paul is in Camp Sherman and Frank is teaching at home.

PROPAGANDA NEWSPAPERS.

The interesting story revealed at Washington of efforts to put over German propaganda through ownership of newspapers, brings to light a type of publicity work not confined to the pro-Germans.

A great many men of wealth have the idea nowadays that they can accomplish their ends by owning a newspaper. They may want office for themselves, or for some associate in whom they have a personal interest. They may want to put over political or business or corporation deals, or simply to get prominence.

The yhave wrong notions of the way public opinion is swayed. They fail to realize how quickly the public scents insincerity, and how completely an editorial utterance is nullified when it appears there is some personal or selfish motive back of it. The people who try out this thing pay high for their experience.

The German propagandists spent a pot of money on newspaper publicity. Failing to get at it in the right way, they did not get their full money's worth. They would have done better in those days to have bought advertising space outright and have inserted their stuff over their own signatures. That would at least have been sincere and direct. But to try to work opinion by secret control of newspapers makes 100 enemies for every friend.

There are of course propaganda newspapers, or papers specially devoted to some particular cause, that are wholly legitimate. Henry Ford is to have something of that kind. It will be open to no objection, because there will be no concealment or underhand influence. Mr. Ford could get his opinions before the people at far less expense, in fact at no expense at all, by contributing signed articles to the magazines and newspapers that would gladly print them. But if he wants a run for his money in his own paper, let him have it.

YOUNG AMERICA.

It is never well to become pessimistic about the rising generation. The way our boys have fought shows there is no limit to their power and achievement. Still in our home towns one sometimes sees tendencies in the young crowd that are not helping to make citizens worthy of the high rank set by the soldiers.

A visitor was telling the other day about a club of boys organized in a certain town. They made it a condition of admission, that each candidate must have broken some law. They were not the sons of ignorant. O no. They were the children of the families of wealth and culture.

Probably the statutes they violated were not the most important. Still when the young crowd gets the notion that it is a smart thing to break even a minor law, the seed of mischief is sown in their hearts. It is likely to have very dangerous fruit.

THE PART OF THE BOND.

American dollars, supplied chiefly through the sale of Liberty Bonds, played a big part in the winning of the world war.

They sent an army of 2,000,000 Yanks to the firing line in about the shortest time such an army was ever assembled.

They put under way the construction of a federal merchant marine that will be diverted from war work to the extension of American commerce.

They supplied the allied nations funds to the extent of more than $7,000,000,000 with which to carry on their fight.

And in effort they tipped balance of world power so decisively that there was nothing left the Germans but surrender.

Yet this is but a part of their tremendous and yet unfinished task.

We must do our part in restoring law and order in Europe. We must lend our assistance at whatever cost to the re-establishment of a stable government in Russia. We must help feed the starving millions in the territories devastated by the Hun. We may have to lend substantial aid in the end to Germany herself.

But above all we must thoroughly look out for the best interests of our own country commercially, at home and abroad, both for the immediate present and the future. This is a question that intimately concerns us all.

The duty of the dollar hasn't been fully done by a long shot.

Nor has our obligation to furnish that dollar been removed.

Nor our debt to humanity been fully paid.

Nor will all this have been accomplished until normal conditions are restored.

So don't contemplate another loan in a spirit of resistance.

Stand by your duty and your country call.

CHRISTMAS FIRE HAZARDS.

Christmas and its joys should not be allowed to blind men to the ordinary rules of safety for the protection of the home and the lives of the family. And yet at holiday time parents who try to keep their children free from even the possibility of danger will install in the heart of their homes, where it is sure to be the center of attraction for the little ones, the most inflammable thing that ever enters it—the ordinary evergreen Christmas tree. While it grows more dry and dangerous in the warm rooms they drape it with cotton for snow, tissue paper-loops and tinsel for decorations, stick candles all over it, hang up toys that every child will grab for, and then trust to luck and providence for safety from a hazard that may prove as dangerous as an open keg of gunpowder. Just to play fair and take his share of the chances pater familias often surround himself with pillows, put on cotton hair and whiskers and make himself more of a menace than a help in case a fire should start.

And fires do start, thousands of them every holiday season. Firemen look forward to a run of Christmas tree fires just as they did to Fourth of July fires before the Sane Fourth movement put an end to them in many places. Why not a Sane Christmas as well as a Sane Fourth? Why should the children's festival be made the means of destroying hundreds of lives and thousands of homes? Use little electric lights instead of candles, asbestos instead of cotton, non-combustible decorations instead of inflammables, and then watch the tree with the utmost care, especially when the children are around it. It's better to be safe than sorry, especially with the little ones at Christmas time.

That the American soldiers are unconquerable is not believed by a lot of our sweet girls studying the mirror here at home. However, the girls need not feel it necessary to cover their faces with two coats of guaranteed fire proof paint in order to attract the soldier boys. Also if the dear things glue down a section of a hair mattress over their ears, they may not be able to hear important questions that may be put to them.

The question is asked what will be come of the people who sell their Liberty bonds? Well, some of 'em in about a year will be calling on the government to prosecute those rascally Get Rich Quick people, of whom they bought worthless securities with the bond proceeds.

Our old friend Pro Bono Publico asks what has become of the boy that used to work for five cents an hour? Well, he has grown up and owns a handsome house and two automobiles, but his son won't do anything because they only offer him $4 a day.

"Patriotic Citizen" writes to ask if it is necessary for him to stand up in bed when the young folks next door plays the Star Spangled Banner at midnight.

We all glory in our khaki uniforms now it remains to be seen if we shall be equally proud of khaki overalls.

German Food Minister Warm went to Brussels to see Hoover, and Herb always was an early bird.—Washington Post.

FLYING DE LUXE.
(Philadelphia Ledger.)
To hear of air yachts with commodious state rooms, with decks where it will be possible to take a stroll, with roof gardens and even elevators such as are found on steamships, is to rub one's eyes and ask if one is dreaming.

But most of all it is the possibility of sweeping across the world safely across inhospitable desert spaces that feeds and quickens the lively American imagination. It is not merely that these things are prophesied. The fact is accomplished. General Salmond has flown 2000 miles from Cairo to Karachi, India. In the course of the journey he covered the 510-mile lap between Damascus and Bagdad in six hours and fifty minutes. The voyage was made over a waterless track of 1000 miles of bleaching bones that have many times bestrewn the trail of such a trek when it was earth-bound. The end is not in sight from the beginning of these marvellous adventures those of Scheherazade's inventing fancies.

Out of the ruck and the ruin of war this is a part of the good that is coming, for the great age that is to be, while the fighting was on the aircraft were used to spy out the land to make still more effective the deadly fire of the artillery, to drop bombs where they would savagely tell for their fullest military value in destruction.

GERMANY'S VICTIMS.
(New York World.)
As they advance toward the Rhine the American troops find no tragic scenes of desolation, no cities and towns leveled to the ground, no widows created by von Hindenburg's armies. They have left behind them the ruin wrought by Germans in the one rich province of Belgium and France. The roads are not blocked with streams of homeless refugees, fleeing before a ruthless invader.

At Treves the life of the people appears almost normal. In Coblenz the soldiers see gay crowds, cafes filled with merry makers, even a dancing hall. An American correspondent describes how "thousands of well-dressed men and handsomely-gowned women thronged the boulevard along the Rhine. The crowd in front of the magnificent remodeled railway station, a Fifth Avenue holiday parade." No doubt the poor of the Rhenish cities have felt the pinch of war times as elsewhere others have, but this is the Germany nearest the front, nearest barbarous outrages perpetrated under the German flag when its soldiery gained a footing on foreign soil.

Whenever the Germans held power they spread death and destruction, not merely in the fury of battle but in pursuit of their relentless purpose of terrorizing their enemies. Belgium was plundered and impoverished for the long future, its people enslaved, their farms sacked, their industries destroyed. Northern France was even more systematically pillaged and devastated. Ypres, Cambrai and Reims are shattered and shapeless, but Treves, Coblenz, Mainz and Cologne stand untouched. Germany was beaten, humiliated and reduced to a shameful surrender, but the sheep lines of Brussels and Lille are not visible in the cities on the Rhine. Their factories have not been stripped, their sanctuaries defiled and their inhabitants carried away for forced labor.

Even upon its allies the curse of Germany's power has fallen with terrible effect. When Austria, exhausted and desperate, was ready to sue for peace, as Count Czernin reveals, the German military party, under Ludendorff's domination, threatened it with war. Today in Vienna, formerly the care free capital of a mighty empire, there is neither food to relieve the immediate needs of the starving wounded in the hospitals, nor a city of misery and famine. To Bulgaria and Turkey has fallen no better fate. So long as they served Germany's purposes, so long as they were capable of fighting its battles and serving its policy of conquest and world domination, they received encouragement

All Precedents Smashed.
Precedent breaking being the style this year, what's the matter with lady clear buyers putting some money as well as heart into such gifts?—Pittsburgh Gazette Times.
It is to be hoped, then, that the recipients will fall into line and loosen up a little, as, generally speaking, the dear ladies have so much more heart than money.

Sounds That Way.
"My wife's the talking clump," said Ben.
"Her chatter's never done,
She sets her mouth to going, then
Forgets and lets it run."
—Luke McLuke.

Did You Know
That playing cards are made of three or four sheets of paper pasted together? In making them the sheet on which is printed the back of the card is laid down on a table and the white side brushed with paste. A sheet of cartridge paper is laid on this and covered with paste, a second sheet which is to form the face of the card is placed on top. These are then placed in a strong press to squeeze out the water, after which they are separated and dried. They are next ironed between steel rollers and pressed between smooth sheets of zinc in another press, and brushed with a mixture of white lead, water and glue. When dry they are rubbed with flannel dipped in soapstone and polished with a brush to give them a smooth finish.

Double-Crossed.

—I. G.

and succor. In the end they find themselves cast adrift, friendless, bankrupt and famine stricken, while German cities are found in comparative comfort and plenty.

It may be that among the poor in Germany there is real distress and that their sufferings will make necessary measures of assistance in advance of the conclusion of peace. But it is not upon Germany—and the outside world cannot forget it—that the extreme consequences of its crimes have been visited. No Belgium or northern France or Serbia or Roumania has yet been discovered within the German lines.

THE CHURCH IN THE ARMY.
(Philadelphia Record.)

It is surely time for some churchman to come forward with the bold declaration that the church actually accomplished something in this war—as much, at least, as it ever accomplished in any other great disturbance of the world peace. The church has been enough and to spare of the other sort of talk, and it is with pained surprise that we find the scholarly pastor of the Tabernacle Presbyterian church, Rev. Dr. John Albrecht, adding his voice to the Jeremiad chorus.

"So far," says Dr. Blair, "the church has not measured up to the needs of the men in the army. It is very good, as far as it goes, but it does not go far enough. The church has been too busy with its own internal quarrels and its own selfish interests. It has been too busy with its own internal quarrels and its own selfish interests. It has been too busy with its own internal quarrels and its own selfish interests."

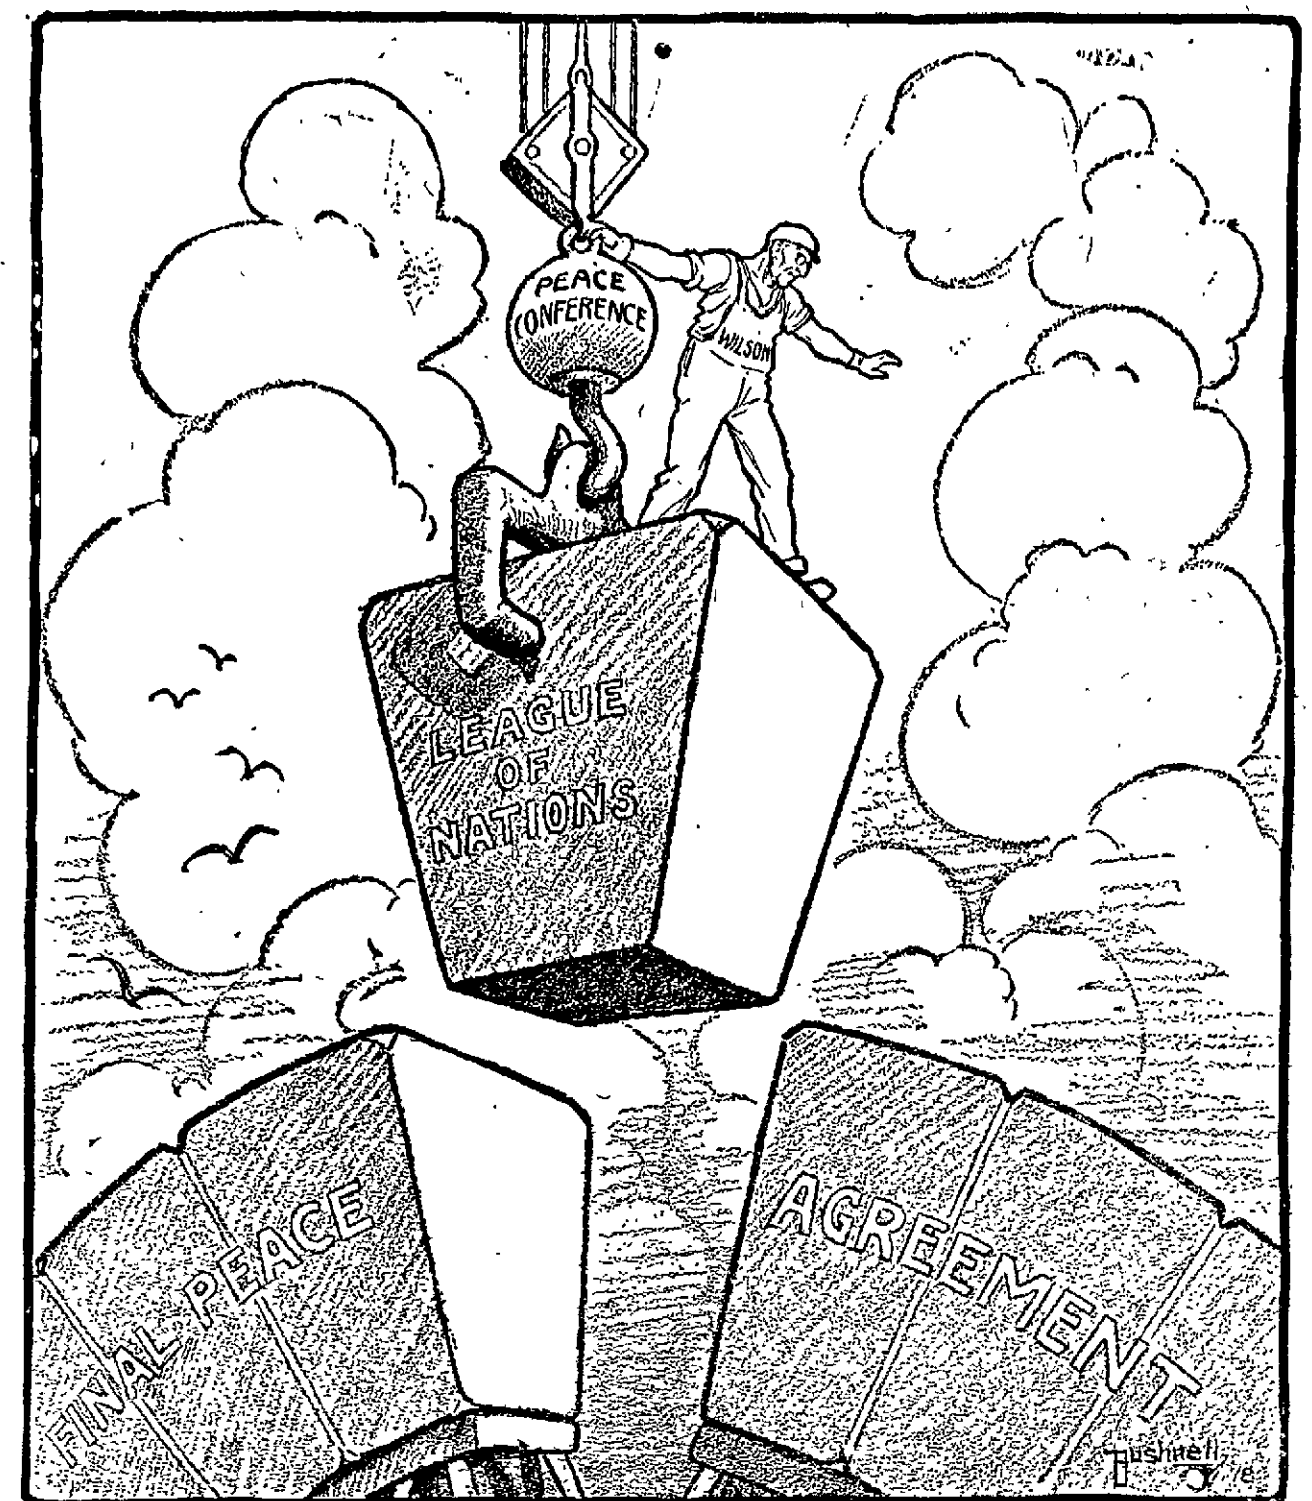

We fear the reverend doctor makes several mistakes here. The facts, if they were to be gathered, would prove, we feel sure, that the church is not only "very good as far as it goes," but that it does go far enough. The suggestion that the church has been too busy with its own internal quarrels and its own selfish interests is ill-advised. It would be a tacit admission that those methods have been wrong in the past, which, in the main, they have not. If, as he says, "the boy in the army is a saint at heart" and "a good, clean fellow," the sequential fact that "he accepted the religious life in the camps as a part of his normal life" may properly be attributed to his earlier acceptance of some form of religious discipline in the practice of which he had in the mean time become lukewarm or cold. "Discipline" is the pregnant word here, and, insofar as the soldier's religion is concerned, "self-discipline" is meant. The army regulations do not demand attendance at religious worship, and so the urge came from his own soul. If he carries this self-discipline back into civil life with him he will seek the church and he will not need to be coaxed by it.

PEACE AND GOOD WILL.
(Ohio State Journal.)

We see in the intelligence from the far East that the wages are so high that they amount to a confiscation of capital. Now, there is a big issue—how high can wages go without destroying capital? It is a question that will have to be answered pretty soon, for there will have to be a meeting of the minds of the ascending wages and the descending capital, or our civilization will tumble to pieces. It is going to be a difficult issue to settle, for scores of conditions wait upon it. But one thing is demanded on both sides, and that is that each is to consider the standpoint and give it friendly consideration. We have reached a time when force is ruled out of civilized society and all conclusions must be reached without prejudice or antagonism. Force and selfishness were the straggling points of the Kaiser, but they were conquered not only in the interest of peace among nations, but what is fully as important, peace among men.

And that should be the thought of this Christmastide, which first heard the glad tidings of peace on earth, good will to men. And that was the verdict of the great war, too, that we must love one another and not kill each other. And that sentiment must rule capital and labor in the future or the war did not win all that it fought for. Conference, conciliation and confidence are the three C's that civilization must recognize if it is to abide.

LAYING THE KEY-STONE

WHY HAVE A COLD?

(Sanitary Bulletin.)

Several varieties of bacteria, which probably cause most colds, are quite constantly found in the secretions of the nose and throat. When resistance is lowered, either locally or generally, the invasion of these little trouble-makers begins.

This lowering of resistance or susceptibility to colds is due in many cases to abnormal conditions in the nasal passages. Limited breathing space with resulting lowering of vitality is a common condition. Adenoids, in children, which arrest or retard nasal structures, are a prime factor in causing colds. Other malformations of teeth and dental arches arresting the normal growth of jaw and nasal structures are also basic causes of colds. Complicating infections of the middle ear, mastoid cells and other communication cavities in the skull, are the severe and dangerous end results of uncorrected deformities and obstructions. Careful examinations by competent specialists in nasal and oral surgery are highly important and clearly indicated in those who are particularly prone to colds. This is especially advisable in the case of children and young adults, for whom the correction of such abnormalities produces marvelous benefits. A normal and healthy condition of the nasal passages, together with a strict obedience to the laws of personal hygiene, will almost wholly prevent colds.

WALKING.

(Houston Post.)

Of all the tonics the wild world over none is so good, so sure to bring results and so invigorating as the exercise of walking.

To walk one must be in the out-of-doors, and it is in the out-of-doors that we find health.

If you don't believe that this is true join the procession of men and women who walk.

Do you ever watch them as they go to and from their work?

—when the little world about you seems all topsy-turvy and wrong and you can't find your rose-colored glasses, leave your tasks and get out-of-doors. Walk and walk—and walk.

You'll find your vision clearing; you'll find the problems looming less huge on your horizon; you'll find a certain hopefulness and buoyancy that you seemed to have lost.

Walk all you can and as often as you can. Turn your steps from the foot-paths to the far-away roads where there is only a blue of God's perfect sky and the soft-blending of colors all about you and the fresh air to breathe with no noise except the occasional song of a bird or the singing of the wind through the trees.

It is a tonic for one's soul and mind as well as one's body.

The way to provide work for returning soldiers is not to force out the women who have been working in their places, but to make jobs for the soldier. Now is the time for public and private enterprise. It is due the soldier and it is due the women who substituted for the soldier while he was away.—Raleigh News and Observer.

Mildred Thompson. Mildred Lucille, the two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Thompson, died Saturday evening at the home in Hancock street of influenza.

Mrs. Rinehart's Funeral. Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Rinehart of Pataskala, who was instantly killed Friday evening by a Pennsylvania train at the Main street railway crossing, there, were held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 in the Presbyterian church. Interment was made in Pataskala cemetery.

Margaret Jenkins. Margaret Jenkins, colored, the 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Jenkins, died this morning at 2:30 at the home in "Giffel" court. Death followed a short illness of influenza. Another child survives. The funeral will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the home. Interment will be made in Cedar Hill cemetery.

James E. Sullivan. James Edward Sullivan, aged 59, a former employee of the Baltimore and Ohio shops, died Saturday evening at Sebring, O., where he and Mrs. Sullivan were visiting relatives. Death was due to bronchial pneumonia. The body arrived here Sunday evening and was taken in charge by C. T. Egan, an removed to his home in Wilwood avenue.

His wife and four children, Mrs. Carl Donahue of this city, Hugh Sullivan of Camp Jackson, Kathryn and Edward of the home survive. Burial will be made Tuesday morning in Mt. Calvary cemetery at 10 o'clock. The deceased was a booster for the south side subway and also was active in the movement of changing the name of German street to Wilwood avenue.

LEARN BEST FARM METHODS

Modern Principles of Agriculture Being Instilled into the Youth of Our Ally Italy.

The use of scientific farming methods is spreading and developing in Italy; the eliminating of waste and the replacing of the old-fashioned devices is becoming a fact in the fertile land south of the Alps. One of the most useful agencies for popularizing these modern methods are agricultural institutions where boys are taught the principles of modern farming.

The department of civil affairs of the American Red Cross has recently given material assistance to one of these schools of agriculture established by the Salesian Fathers in the fields just outside the Porta Furba, one of the historic gateways of Rome. This assistance has been conveyed through an Italian organization, engaged in work similar to that carried on by the A. R. C. and known as the "Comitato per gli Orfani de Costantini Morti in Guerra." The boys of the school, all orphans of peasant soldiers, are given training in scientific and practical farming, the object being to strengthen their attachment to the soil, also to convert them into good and intelligent farmers. Lectures and classroom instruction are accompanied by field work with modern tools, under the direct supervision of the younger fathers of the institution, who work side by side with the boys in the fields, teaching and demonstrating.

WHEN MAKING OUT A CHECK

Take Time Enough to Write Legibly and Be Sure Amount Is Indicated Clearly in Writing.

Do you know how to write a check so that it cannot be successfully tampered with? Experts declare that carelessness in that small matter is responsible for the loss of millions of dollars annually, the loss falling sometimes on the individual and sometimes on the bank. There are mechanical devices to prevent the raising of checks, but their use is not general, partly because of the expense, but more particularly, probably, because it adds one more to the multitude of things to be done.

For those who are daily taking chances William G. Pengelly, handwriting expert in a recent paper, offers some valuable advice in the drawing of checks. His first suggestion is to take enough time for the process to be sure of doing a good job. In filling in the space for the amount in numerals, write in legible figures, beginning close to the printed dollar mark; don't leave space for the insertion of another figure. Then write the amount in words, preferably beginning with a capital, at the left-hand end of the line; don't write it so that the amount stands in the middle of the line; having written the amount properly, draw a heavy line from the last letter to the word "Dollars" at the right. As he says, "block the words in" so that additions cannot be easily made either at the beginning or at the end. When the words are written clearly and with an initial of unmistakable identity, the check-raiser has little opportunity for his work.

Another safeguard Mr. Pengelly suggests is the writing of the amount of the check either in figures or words, in red ink, above or within the signature at the bottom. In his experience he has found this to be a successful safeguard against fraud. But the all-important things are legibility of handwriting and proper location of the written amounts. Don't be in a hurry in writing a check. It is a haste that makes trouble.—Columbus Dispatch.

LIKE OTHER ORIENTAL TOWNS

Joppa Since Earliest History Has Been More or Less the Plaything of Conquerors.

In the tribute lists of Thothmes III, king of Egypt, who held his court on the banks of the Nile, some 1500 years before the Christian era, there figured the town of Joppa. Thothmes III was a mighty warrior. He fought no fewer than seventeen successful campaigns in Syria; twice captured Kadesh and was one of the greatest builders and administrators Egypt had ever known. So, although nothing is certain about the matter, he probably captured Joppa and laid tribute on the inhabitants, who then, as today, built their houses over the "rounded hillock" which, from the sea, forms a gracious landmark. That was 3,400 years ago, and every now and again during all those centuries, the old city, which looks out over the Mediterranean toward the coast of Africa, away beyond Egypt, has stepped into and out of the history of the world.

On Marrying Aviators.

It is noticed that the dear girls, marrying aviation lieutenants more than any other class of soldiers. This is not because so many of them are killed, but because the service is the most romantic, and if there is anything a well-balanced girl likes more than anything else it is romance. And to have a husband who sails the blue skies and goes hiding in the clouds makes a girl very proud. She has a right to be. He is looked upon as a superman who gets beyond the domain of gravitation and wanders in the regions where the angels are supposed to fly. When such a one gets back to earth and sits with his wife before the cordial fireplace, and talks to her of stars, sunsets and dreams, could there be more delightful company? Who would not be an aviator and face all the perils of aviation for such an experience? No wonder the government has more aviators than it wants. —Ohio State Journal.

Blind Boys on Joy Ride.

A little engineering ingenuity has made dozens of blind and deaf children in Manila happier. Deaf and blind children are sometimes hard to amuse. A man who fashions some plaything that can make perpetual darkness and silence a little easier to endure adds a jewel to his heavenly crown. The merry-go-round that has been placed at the disposal of the children in the Deaf and Blind school in Manila is simple enough for the handicapped boys and girls to operate without assistance. The whirling structure comprises a triangular framework of wood scantlings pivoted on a stout wood post in the center. At each point of the triangle is a seat and a wheel. The wheels travel on a circular iron track. Legs and arms supply the motive power.—Popular Science Monthly.

St. Mihel Party.

One infantry company at the end of several hours' advance found that it had cut off several scores of Germans in a wood. The Germans didn't show any fight. Most of them didn't even exhibit enough nerve to come out and surrender. When it came time for the captain to make his periodical report to his battalion P. C., this sentence concluded the message he sent back: "Have about a hundred friendly troops in woods on my right."—Paris Stars and Stripes.

Atrocious.

H. G. Wells brought back with him from the Balkans—he explored the Balkans before the war—a pair of Bulgarian boots, which he sometimes wears in the privacy of his Sussex home.

Joseph Conrad visited Mr. Wells recently and found him attired in these boots.

Mr. Conrad studied the boots a long time, for they were remarkable of soft red leather, the toes pointed and curled up, the fronts embroidered with gold thread and strips of white fur about the tops.

"In heaven's name, Wells," said Mr. Conrad, "where did you get those boots?"

Mr. Wells, coloring a little, thrust his feet beneath his chair.

"I bought them," he confessed, "in Bulgaria."

"Ha, ha, ha!" laughed Mr. Conrad. "I've heard a lot about Bulgarian atrocities, but I never expected to come across a pair of them in Sussex."

All He Wanted to Do.

When David Jackson, negro, of Brooklyn, was arrested for failing to register in the draft, he resented the remarks of officials who were convinced he was trying to avoid service. At indictment having been returned, he was arraigned before the United States district court. "Ah can fight any ten Germans you pick out. Just hold up the first ten Huns that come along here, and Ah'll show you what Ah can do. Ah'll lick them one at a time or all together, and not even use a gun."

"Do you want to go into the army?" asked Judge Garvin.

"Ah sure do," replied Jackson.

"Why didn't you register?"

"Oh, Ah know nothin' about your fussy old laws," said the negro. "All Ah want to do is fight."

WAN PROFITEER IN HOLLAND

He Has Grown to Surprisingly Large Numbers and Is Always an Object of Contempt.

Though he has lined his pockets with gold the Dutch war profiteer is a marked man. Isaac P. Marcossion writes in the Saturday Evening Post. I was walking down the Hoogstraat—the leading retail business street in Rotterdam—one day last June, when my companion, a widely known Dutchman, tugged at my sleeve, pointed to a man driving in a smart new dog cart and said: "He's an 'over'."

"What is that?" I asked. "A war profiteer," he replied. I then discovered that the Dutch have coined this phrase to indicate the despised type. It is a combination of the first letters of the two Dutch words Oorlog winst, which means war profits. When pronounced it sounds like "over."

Holland "has the number" of these gentry. They are spotted wherever they go, and by an interesting system. It was explained to me by a Dutchman in this fashion: "Whenever you see a man with a new motor car or a new carriage you can put him down as a profiteer. No self-respecting Dutchman will buy a new vehicle these days. Besides—as far as the motor is concerned—petrol is scarce and too high for the ordinary man. Some profiteers try to disguise their cars by buying low motor car numbers."

The profiteers have grown to such numbers in The Hague alone they occupy a whole residential district. By a fitting irony it is located near the peace palace. Here they have taken possession of scores of imposing residences, whose owners have not been able to maintain them under war conditions. It is the domain of the Dutch new rich. Holland imposes a tax of 30 per cent on war profits. Since 1915 it has yielded the government nearly $100,000,000, which would mean a gross total of nearly $300,000,000. But these actual taxes are about as fair an index to real figures as the inheritance tax in America is to real inheritances. Besides, there is the huge pool of untraceable profits garnered by the farmers, who have been among the principal profiteers.

FUR TRIMMED GOWN LOOKS LIKE SUIT

This smart afternoon gown, which cannot conceal the fact that it is a Paris inspiration, has every appearance of a suit with its soft taupe fur collar, cuffs and skirt bands. Beige velvet fashions the skirt and bodice with a straight satin panel from the low neck to the top row of fur on the skirt. Satin covered buttons edge both sides of the panel. The hat is a model worthy of note, being made of the same material as the gown and absolutely devoid of trimming.

Spanish-American War. Spain declared war against the United States April 24, 1898. The first American army of invasion of Cuba, under General Shafter, sailed from Tampa, Fla., June 11, and landed at Santiago, Cuba, June 23. The battle between the "Rough Riders" and the Spanish forces occurred on June 24, the battle of El Caney on July 1 and the surrender of Santiago on July 16.

NOT AN UNMIXED BLESSING

Washington Man Rejoiced Over "Autoleless Sunday" Until Awful Thought Came to His Mind.

"Something is always happening to take the joy out of life," he said, mournfully.

"Something always happens, or somebody always says something, and if they don't I have to think of something myself," he continued.

"When I saw that news about the supply of gasoline being short, with probably not a month's supply left, I rejoiced. You see, I don't own an automobile, and, what is more, my nerves must be sensitive, because they worry me."

"They woke me at midnight with a terrific banging and snorting, and disturb my slumbers at six o'clock in the morning with mingled roars and explosions like unto antediluvian monsters."

"If I had my way I'd restrict the use of automobiles from nine o'clock in the morning to six o'clock at night. But—well, when I thought the gasoline was giving out, I must confess I rejoiced. Selfish? Maybe. But I had no sooner rejoiced than I thought—"

The mournful man smiled sorrowfully.

"I thought," he said, "that with all the automobiles out of business, there would be just that many more people to ride on the street cars."—Washington Star.

ALL HAVE THEIR FAVORITES

Most Novelists Admit Decided Preference for Certain Children of Their Brain.

It is no secret that Mowgli, the wolf boy of the "Jungle Books," is Mr. Kipling's prime favorite, or that Rodney Stone, that fighter and gallant Englishman, takes precedence even of Sherlock Holmes in the affections of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle.

Thomas Hardy much prefers to consider himself a poet rather than a story writer, but among the many characters he has created he loves Tess best of all; and it is rumored that H. G. Wells has a sneaking affection for his Tono Bungay.

It is often difficult to account for prejudices, for likes and dislikes. The author often loves her least worthy lad best. Mark Twain doted on Huckleberry Finn, Dickens had a soft place in his heart for the Artful Dodger, and it is said that W. W. Jacobs loves best his sly, diplomatic, cool poacher and general scapegrace, Bob Prentiss.

Jerome K. Jerome has never lost his first love for "Three Men in a Boat." It made his name known in two hemispheres, and he feels he owes it a debt of gratitude.

Allan Quartermain is an easy first in the heart of Sir H. Rider Haggard; Marie Corelli's favorite among her own works is "Thelma," and Sir Hall Caine's "The Manxman," while nobody else can ever take the place of Babbie, the gipsy lass of "The Little Minister," in the love of Sir James Barrie.

Fast Reclaiming Desert.

Men have begun to reclaim the Californian desert by irrigation. The Imperial valley is the first word in the bringing back of the waters to the thirsty land, but it is by no means the last. Towns like Brawley and Imperial now stand where the mesquite once grew and the coyote howled.

The limit of man's progress in the valley is sharply defined. The "field" of alfalfa or grain faces the desert, the one wearing a fierce scowl, the other a gentle smile. Close by live the desert's conquerors, big upstanding folk, amid the softness of an eternal summer. The irrigation canals flow musically everywhere. The houses are ringed round with cloth-screened verandas, which do duty also as living and sleeping places. The people always seem to be on the defensive against the desert. But they have made it blossom like the rose, and are making it pay. Soon the desert of lost hopes, of burning heats, of intolerable mirages, and arid solitude will be a land of teeming thousands and of plenty.

Famous Soldier Poet of Italy.

Gabriele d'Annunzio, Italy's famous poet, whose flying feats are the admiration of his countrymen, has not the slightest fear of death, and he has a presentiment that he will die in action. To a friend who interviewed him he remarked: "My worldly life is ended. What can I do after the war? I shall write no more. Every time I go off on an expedition I hope it will be my last. That is the reason for my fearlessness. The finest end I wish for is to die for my country."

Pudgy's Bravery.

"Pudgy" is a Y. M. C. A. man, well known to many American soldiers in France. He recently spent a night in a front-line dugout. While he was there a deafening barrage rained around the dugout for a full half an hour.

Everyone wanted to know afterward how Pudgy liked it.

"I fear," he confessed, and the everlasting smile broadened as he spoke, "that I'm no braver now than before."

Proper Pirate.

"You seem to be rather proud of being a pirate," remarked the trusty lieutenant.

"I am," replied Captain Kidd. "I'm a regular pirate, I am. When I want to sink a ship I superintend the job in person. I don't sit at home and send a lot of scared sailors out to take chances all by themselves in U-boats."

Don't start anything you can't finish.

Wall Street.

New York, Dec. 23.—Shippings were buoyant at the opening of today's stock market on advices from Washington that arrangements for the purchase of International Mercantile Marine tonnage were virtually completed.

Marine preferred rose four points in the hour and the common shares and six per cent bonds 1.2 each, while United Fruit, Atlantic Gulf, International corporation shares gained 1 to 2 1/2 points. Rails, Motors, oils, equipments and metals also improved substantially but local tractions weakened again.

Much of the early rise was cancelled at the first indication of profit-taking in shippings and renewal of bear pressure elsewhere. Representative rails reacted one to 1 1/2 points, motors 1 to 2 1/2, with especial weakness in Studebaker and Mexican Petroleum because heavy. Steels and other leaders dropped one to two points and among others a second round of equipment were even more extensive.

Selling slackened toward noon but the market soon showed less resistance to pressure. Transactions in Liberty Bonds were again large, mainly, however, at moderate recoveries.

OHIOANS URGED TO AID EXILES

Conditions in Near East the Most Pitiable on Record.

WRETCHED PEOPLES STARVING

Persecuted by Turks, Many Thousands of Homeless Armenians, Syrians and Greeks Are Wandering Over the Country in Great Unorganized Masses—Ohioans Asked to Subscribe $1,640,000 as a Thanksgiving Offering For Peace.

Columbus, O. (Special.)—While celebrating a Christmas of victory and plenty, of "Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men," Ohioans this holiday season have been asked by the American Committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief to give financial aid to the thousands of persecuted and starving Armenians, Syrians and Greeks in the Near East.

As a thanksgiving offering for the blessings of peace and victory, Ohioans are asked to subscribe $1,640,000 to the $30,000,000 fund to be raised by the Armenian and Syrian Relief Committee the week of Jan. 12-19.

Approximately two-thirds of Ohio's quota in the big drive will come from War Chests. The big charity has been recognized as highly important as carrying out America's policy of protection and aid for demoralized peoples.

IF YOU HAVE THE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT—

If you have a comfortable home—
If you have plenty to eat—
If you have good clothes—
If you are thankful that you live in a free country—
If the World War has not been fought in vain—
If you are a real man or a real woman—

THEN REMEMBER—

Your unfortunate Brothers and Sisters in the Near East who do not have your advantages, and

GIVE TO THE ARMENIAN AND SYRIAN RELIEF FUND
"UNTIL IT HURTS."

According to United States consular reports and relief workers, the condition of thousands in the Near East is the most pitiable on record. Persecuted by the Turks, they are wandering over the country in great, unorganized masses. Thousands have been driven from their homes and separated from their families; thousands have been killed outright and other thousands have died from the ravages of starvation and accompanying diseases.

Unless they are given immediate aid, many other thousands in a weakened and demoralized condition will die of starvation and want this winter, the relief workers say. The victory for democracy on the western front has not returned these persecuted peoples to their homes and business.

These refugees must be returned to their homes and supplied with things necessary for the making of a living. Some have been driven many miles from their homes.

The committee estimates that there is a total of 3,950,000 destitute refugees, thousands of them in exile, who must be cared for at a total expense of approximately $37,000,000. It is difficult to estimate the actual cost of repatriating and re-establishing these people and of supplying their immediate needs for food and clothing until they can be re-established and put on a self-supporting basis. The committee, however, has submitted the following as the lowest possible estimate, based upon the most accurate obtainable facts:

2,900,000 needy and accessible people of whom a large proportion will be dependent upon aid from without for six months at least. We estimate $5 per capita for the six months as the lowest figure possible, making a total of $14,500,000.

1,770,000 exiles and refugees to be repatriated, some of them to be carried 1,000 miles to their homes. Giving an average of 400 miles per person, estimated cost $3 per capita, $5,310,000.

400,000 orphans included among the above refugees to be provided with orphan homes at their destinations. Estimated cost $10 per capita for the creation of the home, $4,000,000.

Seeds for sowing, farm tractors, implements and tools, cattle, sheep, motor trucks, autos, etc., to set up these people after they return upon land with facilities for cultivation, $2,500,000.

Providing of houses for 1,770,000 returning refugees which, so far as reports show have been largely destroyed or rendered uninhabitable without extensive repairs, estimated that 50,000 houses will be required at a cost of average $70 each, $3,500,000.

Clothing for at least 2,500,000 needy, including the orphan children and bedding of which they are mostly destitute, at an average of $4 per person, $8,000,000.

Total required to cover period of six months, $36,810,000.

Don't pawn your troubles. You have to pay a high rate of interest before eventually getting them back.

Tom Mix, daredevil star of "Fame and Fortune," to be shown for the first time at the Alhambra theatre, commencing Christmas, tells an interesting story of his last poker game in a lawless community in Southwest, Texas.

Mix, who had spent many weary weeks on the cattle ranges, came into town for relaxation, and what could be more natural for him to do than to buck Chance. Buying chips from a dealer, Tom started in a game of "draw." According to Tom, he drew

Admirers of Maud Wayne, former Keystone beauty, will be pleased to know that she has been cast for an important role in the Triangle production, "Who Is To Blame?" to be shown at the Grand theatre on Monday night. good hands, but if he would have three queens full of tens, some one else in the game would have three aces full of kings. This kept going for some considerable time until Tom's chips were gone. It then dawned on Mix that he was being "trimmed."

Mix reached for his "six-shooter." He found he had left it behind. He left the game and went for the gun. The dealer, fearing trouble, in the meantime wound up the game and left for parts unknown. When Mix arrived on the scene bent on vengeance, he found the place empty, even to the bartender. Cheated of his revenge, Tom piled all the saloon furniture and gambling paraphernalia in the middle of the floor, and set a match to it. In

AUDITORIUM.

"The Warrior."

The Auditorium for today only is showing the 7-reel masterpiece play "The Warrior" with "Maciste," said to be the greatest European actor, who perhaps is remembered by his work in "Cabrera."

"The Warrior" is a vivid story of struggle for the cause of justice and should pack the theatre from pit to dome this evening, for nothing like it has been shown in Newark this season. This feature taken on the battle fields of Italy, on the plains and in the Alps was staged by the Italia Film company of Torino, the same company also producing "Cabrera."

This feature together with the Hearst-Pathe News will make up a program hard to beat. The incomparable Orchestra under the leadership of Prof. Schmitt will render a musical program that fits with "The Warrior."

Vocalists Tonight.

A feature of yesterday's pictures at the Auditorium was the singing of Thomas Murray of Columbus, and Al. Palmer of the Al. G. Field's Minstrels. Mr. Palmer is visiting friends in the city and will be heard again this evening, together with Eddie Ewald. Both singers introduced a number on the program that took the house by storm. They will repeat it tonight.

"Chin Chin."

Charles Dillingham's magnificent and costly production of "Chin Chin" acclaimed to be the biggest musical hit emanating from Broadway, will be presented at the Auditorium tomorrow evening. R. H. Burnside, of the Dillingham forces, who staged the clever fantasy, "Chin Chin," recently said that it was only the old time musical show—the kind put on in a hurry and made up of old stuff—which was suffering. "If there is any trouble at all," he said, "it comes from the growing public demand for something better, more skilful, larger."

"People have been looking at the old things so long they are tired. For a long time they looked at them because they didn't know the stage could offer anything better. Now they are rebellious, and it is up to the producers to make good."

This is the same complete company that appears at the Hartman theatre, Columbus, Christmas day. Seats now selling.

"A Romance of the Underworld." Catherine Calvert, who appears at the Auditorium theatre on Christmas day, described by a reviewer as "the artistic beauty of the screen." This does not mean that in her style of loveliness there is anything affected or "put on." It means that her personality naturally lends itself to screen presentation of the most artistic type. In the beautiful character of Doris Elliott she has a remarkable vehicle for the expression of those qualities which won for her such popularity in the Paul Armstrong play from which the screen version is taken. The play, "A Romance of the Underworld," was one of the most notable of all the Armstrong successes.

"Pals First." A mystic code, by the use of which underworld associations are dissolved, has been utilized by Francis Perry Elliott in titling his novel, "Pals First," which serves Harold Lockwood as a starring vehicle for his appearance on the screen at the Auditorium theatre.

Nerves and the Hair.

Nervous women, or those suffering from nerve-exhaustion, as a rule have thin, fine hair and are prone to premature baldness. This has generally been ascribed to anemia or the lifeless condition of the blood, from which nervous people generally suffer. The hair fed by the capillaries, naturally loses strength when the blood is exhausted. That diseased nerves may directly cause atrophy of the hair roots is a new idea and may explain many cases of baldness in which the scalp seems free from bacteria and the general health good. In such cases falling hair has more than a superficial interest to a woman craving beauty as it becomes a symptom of great nerve disturbance.

The tendency in medical science today is to observe slight symptoms that to the layman would be regarded as unimportant. The hair, the skin, the eyes, and even the conditions of the feet have all importance in determining the condition of health and the presence of some serious disease. Uric acid, the parent of rheumatism, shows its presence in several ways affecting the physical beauty. Dentists have found that uric acid is responsible for a great part of enamel decay. Inflamed eyelids are often traced to the same source, and it has been discovered that a certain blotchiness of the skin of the face is a frequent complaint from

The true test of greatness is to convince other people of it.

Every Day Etiquette

"When one receives an invitation to a luncheon and three persons enclose their cards, what is the proper way to answer?" asked puzzled Mary.

"You should reply to the invitation in the third person on note paper and address the same to the hostess who is to serve the luncheon. In the acceptance you should mention the names of the owners of the other cards enclosed and express your pleasure at the opportunity of meeting them," replied her mother.

BREAK A CHILD'S COLD BY GIVING SYRUP OF FIGS

Cleaves the little liver and bowels and they get well quick.

When your child suffers from a cold don't wait, give the little stomach, liver and bowels a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When cross, peevish, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally; if breath is bad, stomach sour, or a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the clogged-up, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

If your child coughs, snuffles and has caught cold or is feverish or has a sore throat give a good dose of "California Syrup of Figs" to evacuate the bowels no difference what other treatment is given.

Sick children needn't be coaxed to take this harmless "fruit laxative." Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure. They also know a little given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine article by "California Fig Syrup Company." (Adv.)

IT IS TIME TO MAKE MENTHO-LAXENE SYRUP

Anyone Can Make a Full Pint of Laxative, Curative Cold and Cough Medicine Cheaply at Home.

Everybody is subject to colds and coughs at this season. Be prepared! Have on hand a full pint of Mentho-Laxene syrup that checks and aborts colds, relieves coughing and gradually brings permanent relief. The full and best benefits are derived if you begin taking it at the very outset of a cold or cough—because you can check or abort the cold and save many hours of distress and perhaps ward off pneumonia and other serious results of a neglected cold.

Mentho-Laxene is pure, contains no opiates or narcotics. It is pleasant, penetrating, healing and curative beyond any preparation you can buy ready made. Full directions and guarantee are with every bottle of Mentho-Laxene. It will more than please you or The Blackbourn Products Co., Dayton, O., will refund your money.

Hundreds of thousands of bottles of Mentho-Laxene have been sold and not over 50 people have wanted their money back. That tells how good it is.—(Adv.)

FOR ITCHING TORTURE

Use Penetrating, Antiseptic Zemo

There is one remedy that seldom fails to stop itching torture and relieve skin irritation, and that makes the skin soft, clear and healthy.

Any druggist can supply you with Zemo, which generally overcomes all skin diseases. Acne, eczema, itch, pimples, rashes, blackheads, in most cases give way to Zemo. Frequently, minor blemishes disappear overnight. Itching usually stops instantly. Zemo is a safe, antiseptic liquid, clean, easy to use and dependable. It costs only 35c; an extra large bottle, $1.00. It will not stain, is not greasy or sticky and is positively safe for tender, sensitive skins. E. W. Rose Co., Cleveland, C.

WELL SATISFIED WITH "FIND"

Columbus Rejoiced Over Belief That Natives He Found in America Would Make Good Christians.

Columbus landed on a small island, "one of the Lucayas, called in the Indian language Guanahani," the intrepid navigator afterward wrote. Later the island was called San Salvador, and now is known as Watling's Island.

There was discovered in Spain in 1825 the manuscript supposed to be Las Casas' abridgement of Columbus' journal of his first voyage to America, and from this we have some interesting details of the actual circumstances surrounding the discovery of the new world.

The people of the island straightway collected together when Columbus landed, according to this journal. Here follow his precise words:

"As I saw that they were very friendly to us and perceived that they could be much more easily converted to our holy faith by gentle means than by force, I presented them with some red caps and strings of beads to wear upon the neck and many other trifles of small value, wherewith they were much delighted and became wonderfully attached to us."

Columbus comments that the people appeared to him to be very poor because they went about naked. He noted that all the natives he saw were young, none being above thirty years, and that all of them had fine physique and short, straight hair. He believed they were from the continent and was of the opinion that they would make good Christians, as they appeared to have no religion at all.

CORN COBS FOUND OF VALUE

Hitherto Waste Material May Be Utilized to Good Advantage When the War Is Over.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Corn cobs—a great waste product in the world's greatest corn-producing nation—have been made to yield adhesive gum and other useful substances in quantities sufficient to form the nucleus of a profitable and important industry.

In addition to adhesive gum, experiments have produced cellulose, and glucose, both of which have many commercial uses. The glucose so produced crystallizes well, and it is believed can be used in the same ways as crystalline glucose from starch. Manufacture of alcohol by the fermentation of corn cob glucose appears practicable if sulphuric acid is obtainable cheaply.

To utilize corn cobs commercially a large and costly plant would be necessary and the bureau of chemistry of the federal department of agriculture does not advise any enterprise of the sort in wartime.

New German Drying Process.

The so-called Krayeska method, a new means of drying eggs, fruit juice and blood, has been demonstrated before the food authorities in Berlin and found worth exploiting to a large extent. The drying is done in a large iron cylinder five meters in diameter, in which a pair of big metal wings are quickly rotating, driven by a steam turbine. The fluid is lashed to foam and dried by the aid of a hot current of air that is continually passed through the cylinder. The dried product is in the form of a powder, which will keep for a long time and can be most economically transported. The dried products go through no chemical process and are directly soluble in water. Drying plants of this type for treating about 150,000 eggs a day will be erected shortly in Berlin and Bucharest.

War's Far-Flung Ruins.

Russian churches in Alaska have hard times making both ends meet since war's turmoil in Russia stopped the payment of money by the mother church toward the upkeep of these far-away parishes. All the churches in that section are now being supported solely by their small congregations. Many of the churches contain valuable paintings and jeweled robes.

In order to eke out his salary, one member of the Russian clergy, Father A. P. Kashevaroff, arch priest in charge of the Russian church at Juneau, took the post of inspector of customs at Hidden Inlet, near there, for the summer.

In Luck.

Mighty small quantity you gave me for 10 cents. You wouldn't have gotten anything if you hadn't brought your own bottle, the drug clerk replied.—Louisville Journal.

Total .....

This is the last report for the year 1918. When the schools started the campaign last January, $30,000 were set as the goal. Instead of purchasing $30,000 worth of Thrift Stamps, the schools have purchased more than $80,000 worth.

During the coming year, the schools will continue to encourage thrift among the children and will follow much the same program as they have during the present year. Instead of putting the greatest emphasis on the amount of money saved, we shall endeavor to have every school in the city 100 per cent in the number of savers. The schools are very glad to have the government continue the War Savings campaign for another year and will do all in their way to encourage the movement.

NO TIME TO WASTE ENERGY

Western Post Offers Good Advice When He Says, Forget That Bald Patch for the Present.

Lives there a man with soul so dead that never to himself he said, when the hair on his pate, once thick, began a-looking thin and sick: "I'll put some dope on that there hair and soon have foliage to spare." Lives there a man who has not spent his last red solitary cent for dope the baldhead druggist said would bring more hair upon his head. Nay, Man seeks the far solitudes and rubs his shining pate with crude, or rubs a pint of vaseline each night onto his polished beam, rubs all the dope he can afford on to the thing he calls his gourd then to the druggist doth cavort, and buyeth mange cure by the quart; but all his labor is in vain, he never grows another mane. Man that is born of woman is of few hairs and a funny phiz. He thinketh in his bosom he would look young as he used to be if he could on his poll grown bare contrive another crop of hair. Oh man! O bifurcated gent! don't chase the hair that long has went. That biz is picyquish biz. Use all the energy that is, and all of your hair money for the winning of this dreadful war. In this here war game don't you know you should be in the baldhead row.—Judd Mortimer Lewis, in Houston Post.

Hydraulic Cartridges.

It is often difficult and sometimes dangerous to use ordinary explosives for mining and excavating in confined spaces, a fact that has led to the development of the hydraulic mining cartridge.

The cartridge consists of a steel cylinder containing numerous small pistons that move at right angles to the axis of the cylinder and expand when water is injected into them with a hand pump. After drilling a deep enough hole the workmen insert the cylinder and then set to work at the hand pump.

The tiny pistons expand until their free extremities bear against the mass of rock with constantly increasing force and the rock is gradually fractured under tremendous pressure. The operation, it is said, is not only cheaper than the ordinary blast but disintegrates a larger area of rock.

New French Slang.

The language of the Poilu is as double Dutch, to the uninitiated. Anyone familiar with the slang of the Quartier Latin would probably feel more at home than most. But there are many other ingredients—some patois, some picked up in Morocco, and some are survivals of the soldier slang of the First empire. Such a word is "cleber," which apparently means to eat after one has been on the point of starving. An explanation given of the origin of the word is that it is a corruption of "kleba," the Russian for bread. It is said that the French soldiers on the great retreat from Moscow called out "Papa, kleba," to Napoleon.

Potash in Canada.

The discovery of a large deposit of potash in Saskatchewan is of great national importance to Canada. The only other considerable deposit on this continent, as far as known, is at Seaford Lake, in California. This is being developed under the auspices of the American government. The Dominion and Saskatchewan governments should make sure that the new deposits are made productive as soon as possible by the owners.—Toronto Mail and Empire.

Had Experience.

You were wonderfully steady when we were under fire for the first time. It's no special credit to me, Cap'n. I'm used to being shot at. I've been a Maine guide most of my life.—Washington Star.

By Reversal.

How do you manage to keep your servant girl? I'll tell you. In the old days, you know, we used to give the maid Thursday evening out. Now she takes the rest of the week and Thursday is our night out.—Detroit Free Press.

War Savings Stamps.

New members of the Licking County War Savings Society, buyers of 200 War Savings Stamps, are: Thomas J. Prior of South Second street, Frank Bourner, 503 North Fourth street, Charles J. Richards, 37 1/2 West Church street, Mrs. Esther B. Devitt, R. D. 2, Pataskala. The 1919 issue of War Savings Stamps will not be put on sale until January 1st.

Force Is Reduced.

The American Bottle Company reduced its force slightly Saturday owing to a slack in orders during the holidays. A number of tanks are still in operation and it is believed that a full resumption of operations will take place in the near future.

Bronze Tablet Received.

The county commissioners today received the bronze tablet in recognition of the people of the county subscribing to the county's quota of war savings stamps. The commissioners will probably erect it on one of the pillars of the west entrance to the court house. The tablet reads: "In Recognition of the Patriotism of the People of Licking County who Over-subscribed their War Savings Quota in 1918, this Tablet is Gratefully Erected by the War Savings Committee."

Seriously Ill.

Mrs. W. A. Francis, residing southwest of the city, was brought to the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Edgar Pollett, in Crisis Bros' ambulance, Saturday. She is seriously ill and was brought to Newark that she might receive more careful nursing and attention.

Charges Assault.

Eugene Seidenpinner and George J. Steen were bound over to the court of common pleas, by Mayor Atherton, the former on an assault and battery charge and the latter with maiming, the complaining witness being Tony Davis, the amount of bail was fixed at $500, which each defendant gave. The trouble took place some time ago in Seidenpinner's cafe and as a result, Davis has lost the sight of an eye.

Auto Is Stolen.

A Ford auto, owned by F. L. Brooks of St. Louisville was stolen from where he had parked it in Church street Saturday afternoon. The car was a 1917 model with state license tag 116,457. The owner of the car, had the car insured for $10,000. There was a small dent in the front fender. There were three Goodyear and one Barabell tires on the wheels. Two robes, one umbrella and a flash light were in the machine. The matter was reported to the police and they traced the machine as far north as Vanatta, where all clues were lost.

Young Hazlett Improves.

Word received yesterday from Camp Taylor, Louisville, Ky., states that the condition of George Hazlett, son of Rev. and Mrs. Calvin Hazlett of this city, is showing a decided improvement.

Can Get Auto Tags Here.

Automobile license tags can be secured at the patrol station of Chief James Sheridan or any of the officers in charge. This is quite an accommodation to auto owners and saves them the trouble of sending to the state registrar of automobiles for them. One thousand of the new tags arrived today, made by convict labor at the penitentiary.

Arm Is Broken.

William Jakeaway, 15, suffered a broken right arm this afternoon while cranking a Ford car. Criss Bros. ambulance removed him to Dr. D. M. Smith's office where the fracture was reduced.

Walter Richards, boiler maker in the Pennsylvania shops at Steubenville, spent the week end visiting relatives and friends in the city.

Sergeant Neil Floyd of Lake Charles, La., is spending a 10 days furlough at his home 256 Elmwood avenue.

Lieutenant Bentley Sook, who has been instructing in the naval auxiliary school at Pelham Bay park, is home on a furlough.

Mrs. J. B. Jones has gone to Martinsburg, W. Va., for a two months' visit with relatives.

WILL ENDORSE CHANGE OF TIME

Action Will Be Taken by Chamber of Commerce to Approve Eastern Time for Newark.

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce will meet some time this week and will endorse the proposed change of time on January 1, 1919, from Central to Eastern. It is said that the business men of the city generally favor such action.

The Pennsylvania railway in a circular issued to officials states that the new time will become effective at 2 a. m., Central time, Wednesday, January 1, in order to comply with the federal change of time zones and that the P. C. C. and St. L. R. will after that date be operated by Eastern time. At the above hour the clocks in all the offices will be advanced one hour to indicate 3 o'clock, and there after the clocks will indicate Eastern time instead of Central.

The Baltimore and Ohio has announced Newark as the dividing line, all trains east of this station operating on Eastern time and from here west on Central. This certainly will make it quite confusing for travelers having occasion to use both roads, unless the order is changed later.

The Ohio Electric will operate its trains between Columbus, Newark and Zanesville under the new time.

SEEK TO REACH FINAL VOTE ON REVENUE BILL

(Associated Press Telegram)

Washington, Dec. 23.—The senate today convened two hours earlier than usual in the hope of reaching a final vote on the war revenue bill before adjournment so that the three day recess plan for over the holidays may be put into immediate effect. The most important sections to be acted upon are those imposing taxes on inheritance and luxuries.

ASKS PERMANENT RANK FOR GEN. PERSHING

(Associated Press Telegram)

Washington, Dec. 23.—Restoration of the permanent rank of General John J. Pershing, commander of the American forces in France, Peyton C. March, chief of staff and Tasker H. Bliss, military representative at the supreme war council and a permanent rank of lieutenant general on Hunter Liggett, and Robert L. Bullard, commanding the first and second armies, was asked by Secretary Baker today in a letter to Chairman Dent of the house military committee.

WILL DISCUSS TERM NAMED BY ENGLAND

(Associated Press Telegram)

London, Dec. 23.—It is expected that the entire day Friday, the day following President Wilson's arrival in England for his visit, will be devoted to a discussion by the president with the British war cabinet. The subject to be proposed by Great Britain at the inter-allied conference, preceding the peace conference.

SPANISH PREMIER SEES RUINED FRENCH TOWNS

(Associated Press Telegram)

Paris, Dec. 23.—Count Romanones, Spanish premier yesterday visited the invaded region in Champagne and also Rheims. On his return the Spanish statesman and that all Spaniards who would view the scenes of desolation wrought by the Germans, would feel the same indignation as he felt for German conduct and the same admiration for the sufferings and efforts of France.

NORTON IS RECOVERING FROM FLU AND MEASLES

(Associated Press Telegram)

Word was received by Mrs. James E. Horton from her son Philip G. Horton who has been ill in a hospital at Le Mans, France since October 8, with an attack of influenza, followed by measles, telling her that he has been moved to a base hospital near the coast and is now on the road to recovery and able to walk around. The letter was written Thanksgiving day. Horton was located in a classification camp before being stricken.

ALIMONY PETITION.

Melissa Young has filed a petition in common pleas court against John H. Young. They were married Oct. 28, 1914, at McConnellsville. She alleges that he has failed to provide her with the necessities of life and she has been compelled to take in washings to support herself and the defendant a part of the time. She states that defendant is an employee of the American Bottle company and makes about $2.38 per day. She asks for temporary alimony and that the court may award her permanent alimony also.

CLOSE BAVARIAN PLANTS 10 DAYS TO SAVE COAL

(Associated Press Telegram)

Munich, Dec. 23.—All Bavarian industries employing more than ten persons have been ordered to shut down from December 29 until January 2 for the purpose of saving coal. The workers will receive 50 per cent of their ordinary wages, of which the employers will collect two-thirds from the communities in which they are located under a state treasury ruling made for the purpose of guarding industries.

Muggins—"I know a soldier at the front who had a leg amputated, and insisted upon having it buried in a grave."

"Gee! It must be an uncomfortable feeling for a fellow to realize that he has one foot in the grave."

BARCELONA AN ACTIVE CITY

Most Progressive of All Spanish Municipalities and Center of the Revolutionary Movement.

The revolutionary movement in Spain centers in the city of Barcelona. The goal of the revolutionists is a republic, and republicans stand for progress. Of all Spanish cities Barcelona is the most progressive, writes Niksha. For ten years the conservatives have been looking askance at this great modern shipping and manufacturing center, so different from their sleepy inland strongholds, and from the peasant villages of the quiet hills, with political ideas of the last century.

Barcelona is a great world city. It is outstanding Marseilles as the commercial queen of the Mediterranean. The Spaniard has often been charged with a lack of business and enterprise. Barcelona is his answer. Here his factories rival those of Lancashire, his shipping that of Liverpool. The great industrial suburbs, such a city in itself, are reminiscent of the outlying cities that cluster about Manchester in the industrial north of England.

Yet Barcelona remains characteristically Spanish. The city has taken the ugliness, the bitter competitive spirit of modern industry, and more nearly than any other industrial center, has blended them with beauty and Latin courtesy and good nature. Barcelona is Spain awakened, but not Spain transformed.

It is a sunny town, with a clear, bracing air and a blue sky that the smoke of a thousand chimneys never hides. It has plenty of parks and tree shaded boulevards; even its poorer quarters lack the sordidness of the Anglo-Saxon slum. The flower markets, the promenades, the cafes, are thronged with loungers, not of the leisure classes, but workmen in their leisure time. The Spaniard has learned to work without forgetting how to idle. And withal, the crowds are keen and wide awake, mightily interested in public affairs, and discussing politics with the heat that is a birthright in the Latin races. Barcelona promises to remain at the forefront of progressive Spain.

MUSKRATS ARE FOUND EDIBLE

(Associated Press Telegram)

Little Animals Sold and Eaten in Many Cities as "Marsh Rabbits." According to Correspondents.

Newspaper correspondents advise us, says the People's Journal, that last fall they appeared in the Washington, New York and Boston markets many barrels of plump little animals, all dressed and skinned, which were sold as "marsh rabbits."

It appears that for several weeks the food people bought these animals, cooked them according to the special directions and served them at family and party dinners as "rabbits," not realizing that this food was really something vastly different from that of the ordinary rabbit.

Then came the announcement that the "marsh rabbit" was nothing less than the muskrat.

All of which goes to show that even now the American people are not averse to being fooled. In fact, they like it. Barnum's statement holds true as it did when he displayed a sand-papier elephant as "the only sacred white elephant in captivity."

We sometimes think that this is becoming a "marsh rabbit age."

Liberty Bail Bonds.

Thousands of banners and posters and nobody knows how many circular letters and newspaper advertisements have vied with one another in bringing to public attention the excellent reasons why everybody should own Liberty bonds. Here is a reason which has not been mentioned by any of the banners, posters, or advertisements, observes a New York exchange.

"Have you bought your Liberty bond?" asked McCole's friend as the two came through the tube on a crowded subway train.

McCole replied proudly that he had done so—with the bit of money he had been able to scrape together.

"You see," he added, "I figured they was good things to have. For instance, if you got arrested and needed bail you could use them and not lose the interest."

Want No Vermin.

No man is allowed to enter Germany from Russia without being thoroughly disinfected and purified. It is not disease that the Germans are guarding against, but something that to them is more terrifying than disease—vermin. Therefore, friend or foe, hooligan or peasant, nobody is allowed to cross the threshold of Germany without a visit to one of the disinfecting stations along the eastern frontier. Even one of the emperor's sons had to submit to the disinfecting process and received, along with such of the Russian Cossacks who merited it, a certificate stating that "His Royal Highness Prince Adalbert is, for the time being, free from lice."

Harvesting Kelp.

Before the war kelp could be bought for $40 a ton; since its importation from Germany ceased it has risen to $450 a ton.

G. C. Hopkins, in The Forecaster, describes the harvesting of the gigantic kelp of the Pacific, and says this yields not only potash but ammonia and iodine, while the gas generated in the process is used to help the distillation. The United States department of agriculture is harvesting the kelp with floating mowing machines.

Procrastination may be the thief of time, but at any rate it never influences a fellow to be too previous.

WILSON WILL OPPOSE SINKING OF VESSELS

(Associated Press Telegram)

Washington, Dec. 23.—It may be stated, authoritatively, that President Wilson will oppose in the most direct fashion proposals from any source to sink the warships surrendered by Germany under the terms of the armistice. Since word came from Paris that American delegates to the peace conference with British support, intended to advocate destruction of the enemy vessels to avoid contention over their distribution the subject has been discussed with much interest among American and allied naval officers here. Some officers found reasons for supporting such a course, particularly in the difficulty of incorporating into other navies craft of German construction.

Officials have professed to know nothing about the attitude of the president until today when it was learned that he viewed the plan as altogether undesirable.

RODAYA LOWEST OF CASTES

Those Who Survive Are to Be Found Today in Kandy, the Old-Time Capital of Ceylon.

The old-time capital of Ceylon is a city rich with the usual picturesque-ness of the East, and having two or three unusual points about it as well. In Kandy you will find the Rodaya caste, one of the few Buddhist castes whose origin is a matter of history. Kandy, too, contains the most sacred object in the Orient, no less a relic than a tooth of Buddha. These two features are Kandy's principal claims to fame and interest.

It is written that the Rodaya had their origin in the sentence pronounced by an old-time king, who charged that they served his table with the flesh of pigs instead of the flesh of deer. For this crime he made them the lowest of all castes, and their lot has not been a happy one. There are perhaps 500 of them left today; they may be seen daily around the outskirts of Kandy. They are not allowed to live in houses, but inhabit miserable lean-tos. They have no recourse to native courts of justice, although under the English law they are not discriminated against. They may not use a bridge, but have to swim all streams. They must kneel when addressing the higher castes. When the shadow of one of them falls upon food, the food cannot be eaten.

American Pin Globe Trotter.

The American pin goes the wide world around, and our exports are pretty equally divided between the ordinary pin and the safety pin. Missionaries from Africa and Asia say that the American safety pin is so highly valued that it takes the place of currency. Manila is said to be taking 200,000 gross annually, and Italy bought last year 2,100,000 safety pins. The reason for this is the shortage of supplies from European countries. England, France and Italy need the metals for military purposes, and Germany and Austria will not make pins even if they could get them out of the country, because they need the metal too badly for guns and shells. The American pin made by machinery is of superior quality, and the machines are so developed that they can be furnished even more cheaply than by the cheap labor in Europe.

Selfishness.

We are practical beings, each of us with limited functions and duties to perform. Each is bound to feel intensely the importance of his own duties and the significance of the situations that call these forth. But this feeling is in each of us a vital secret, for sympathy with which we vainly look to others. The others are too much absorbed in their own vital secrets to take an interest in ours. Hence the stupidity and injustice of our opinions, as far as they deal with the significance of alien lives. Hence the falsity of our judgments, so far as they presume to decide in an absolute way on the value of other persons' conditions or ideals.—William James.

Hence His Impatience.

Waiter—All right, sir, all right. You'll get served in time.
 Diner—I dare say I shall; but I'm anxious to get through this meal before the prices rise again.—Tit Bits.

FRENCH DIPLOMAT ARRIVES IN U. S.

(Associated Press Telegram)

Andre Tardieu, French high commissioner to the United States, was reappointed secretary of French and American affairs by Premier Clemenceau. He recently arrived in this country, but will remain only a short time. His visit, it was officially stated, "answers the same purpose as the visit of Col. E. M. House to France."

Useful Gifts

There Is More Pleasure In Getting a Coat Than a Vase For Your Mantle

So don't hesitate but give useful gifts—Hundreds of sisters, daughters or mothers would rather have a nice new coat than anything in the world.

Our Coat and Suit Sale Is On

and will offer you the wonderful opportunity of getting a elegant coat for $25.00. All our finest coats are reduced for this sale and you can have your pick of any coat in our stocks at reduced prices for your Christmas gift.

We Excel In Ladies' Furs And Every Lady Likes Them

So you can satisfy without the least doubt and make the gift supreme by selecting furs. It may be a separate scarf—Every lady wants one of the new shoulder pieces—or it may be a fine serviceable muff or it may be a fur set—Furs for the little girls and furs of every kind from $5 to $100.00 a piece.—We only suggest you give them a look.

Beautiful Georgette Waists $5.00 Each

A nice waist at a nice price—Hand embroidered fronts on the fine sheer silk fabrics are unusual at such a low price. But they are our Christmas specials.

Fine Blankets $5.90 to $9.00

Something unusual for Christmas. For the home you can do nothing better than select beautiful items that are used everyday. Something a little nicer than they would buy for themselves—nice bed blankets fill the bill.

Remember Every Woman Is Interested In Her Home

More than any other place—This will be a good guide in directing your planning. We are suggesting below gifts of merit:

Beautiful Rugs
Table Linens
Lace Table Scarfs
Fine Towels
Lace Curtains
Carpet Sweeper
Thermos Bottle

Silk Hosiery
Hug-me-tights
Wool Sweaters
Toque Sets
Nice Neckwear
Kid Gloves
Silk Gloves

And Above All Linen Handkerchiefs 25c

With pretty Irish embroidered corners on linen base—also a nice selection of all colors in the new silk Handkerchiefs at each

NEWARK BOY IN AIR SERVICE BACK HOME

Harry Sessor, son of Frank Sessor, and former B. & O. mechanic, returned to this city yesterday after having arrived from England, December 4. He was detained in New York a week and sent to Camp Sherman, being mustered out of the service yesterday. Sessor was a member of the aviation corps in England, receiving his training as an expert mechanic in the flying camps of Texas. When he was sent overseas he visited several rest camps and finally was located at Norwich, England, the home of Captain Vernon Castle, who was killed in practice flights on a Texas field. Sessor states that his company assembled 15 large bombing planes for the flying lines in France and Belgium. There were numerous other such camps in England. He has made scores of test flights and flew across country with a number of noted aviators and has met many of the best English fliers who also were used as instructors. While in a rest camp near Liverpool, Sessor ran across Clayton Brown, son of J. C. Brown, East Main street grocer, the only Newark man he met while abroad. The ship he came over in carried 3000 troops and there were three deaths during the voyage. Every man aboard the big boat was compelled to wear a "fire blanket" at all times, and Sessor states that this was much more severe abroad than in America.

OHIO BRIEFS

Coshocton—Mrs. W. A. Smith, formerly of this city, suffered a broken shoulder and was severely bruised when she fell down a flight of stairs at her home in Columbus, last week. She is slowly improving.

Coshocton—Mrs. W. H. Wilson died at her home in Roscoe Saturday morning at 9:30 after an illness extending over a year.

Coshocton—The Elks raised about $250 by selling newspapers here Saturday for charity. Harry Turner copied the big prize when W. H. Bachter handed him a $20 gold piece for a paper.

Cambridge—Major William E. Davis formerly of this city, who is in France with the Canadian railway troops, was awarded the distinguished service medal in October by the British government for brilliant and brave conduct under heavy shell fire.

Cambridge—Homer Barnett met with an accident Saturday while at work at the Cambridge works of the American sheet & tin plate company. The ends of the first two fingers of each hand were severed.

Cambridge—A special train of nine coaches, carrying several hundred American soldiers returning from France, passed through Cambridge Friday afternoon.

Coshocton—The Masons, Odd Fellows, and Elks are to build new homes here.
